School Day Celebrations

This week is 'Literacy & Numeracy Week.' To celebrate, we have our annual Book Week Dress Up Day, with children coming along as one of their favourite book characters. In the afternoon from 2.30pm-3.00pm we head outdoors and read to students. Parents and carers are welcome to join us for this. Visit your child's class at this time, and I'm sure there will be an eager group waiting to hear you read to them. On Thursday, Pre-Primary to Year Six classes will be involved in a series of Maths problems and activities, including a giant Maths Scavenger Hunt to start proceedings.

Year Six Camp

The annual camp commences next Monday morning, with a 7am departure from the train station. Students will be accompanied by: Myself, Miss Hancock, Miss Smart, Miss Halford, and Mr. Feleppa . This year our relentless band of fundraising volunteers, contributed more than $8000 to the costs and I'd like to thank them for the countless hours of volunteering and organizing to the benefit of our students. In the next newsletter we'll have students report on the highlights and challenges.

Athletics Carnival

The date for this is Friday 15th September. It will be held at our school oval. While it's not in ideal condition and a little patchy, Miss Jackson and I have decided it's still preferable, rather than having to travel elsewhere.

Student Council Corner

Welcome to Week 6! We are officially halfway through Term Two. We hope you are having a fantastic term of learning and fun.

This week we are celebrating Literacy and Numeracy Week. Tomorrow we will be holding the annual Book Week Parade on the basketball courts first thing in the morning.

We will be basing our judging of costumes on creativity, home-made-ness and if you are able to tell us the character and book/have the book with you. We cannot wait to see your cool costumes!!

Next week, the Year 6 students head off on camp. We hope the Year 5 students enjoy taking on some of the responsibilities of the Year 6 cohort. This will include running our Father's Day Stall. Listen out for announcements regarding this soon.

Blue Letter Winners: Brody Docker, Jasmine Andre and Harry Woolley
